

The Rebel Speaks

GOVERNMENT ANTAGONIST AND HUGUENOT

Story time again! I love it so. Right now, I'm a little cold. The snow is deep. I'm starving and I can't feel my toes anymore; how about you? We're in boats and moving across the river tonight. Keep your powder dry, no matter what. I can see the far shore and the lights from buildings on the other side. The man says, "row, boys, row for all you are worth," it seems the only thing keeping me barely warm.

The enemy hasn't yet sounded the alarm. We can hear the voices of our foe in the distance, singing Christmas carols. I can smell the smoke from their fires. Finally, the other side. I can't wait to get out of this rickety old boat! Can you?

We're all here on land again. "Check your musket and fix your bayonets, boys," says the officer, "and be quiet!" Now, at the edge of the building complex! A shot! The alarm sounded! They are coming out, but too late. We've done it! Caught 'em with their pants off. Now, more musket fire, bullets sizzling past as we return fire. Soon, a white flag waves from the enemy. Their giving up! It seems I caught one through my right side... it looks like you caught one, too. Don't worry; it's just a flesh wound! It seems we will both survive this one!

Their general officer is handing over his sword to the man. Dozens of Hessians lay dead and wounded in the snow! Others in total confusion.

Congratulations! You crossed the Delaware with General Washington and lived to tell the tale. Now, doesn't that feel better?

Ten years of degradation and death to give us freedom from tyrants who would take everything and leave us nothing, because of narcissistic ideas that everything belongs to the King and the state that he controlled.

Sound familiar? Here we are again, suffering again at the hands of another tyrant who wants to rule, instead of protect and govern according to law. Tyrants never relinquish.

They are always in the belief that they rule through divine right. The only way to depose tyrants and dictators is through bloody struggles. Ours is at hand. The enemy is Obama and his collaborating minions! I'll not stand and let the lives given in 1776 be given in vain.

The gift they gave is too great to let go of. To the weak, I say, "Step aside!" To the strong and the patriot, I say, "Once more into the breach," because our cause is just and our enemy weak. We must act with force and soon. The moron in D.C. is poking the Russian bear with a stick and is about to get us all eaten live.

How much more are we going to put up with? When will we, as a nation, stand and fire the second shot heard around the world?

Well, time, once more, for the Old Reb to ride. The artillery just opened fire and it's getting a little hectic. The men are chomping at the bit to get into the fight... and the river runs red with blood, as did the Nile in the time of Moses!

See you on the bridge!

P.S. Would you follow Obama into the breach? I'll bet not! You know why? He wouldn't even be there in the first place. He would be busy playing basketball, or on vacation, while you get cut to pieces by our enemies!

P.S.P.S. If you know nothing about your country's history, how do you intend to keep it?

"The preservation of the sacred fire of liberty and the destiny of the republican model of government are justly considered as deeply, perhaps as finally, staked on the experiment entrusted to the hands of the American people."

"The basis of our political system is the right of the people to make and to alter their Constitution of government. But the Constitution which at any times exists, 'til changed by an explicit and authentic act of the whole people, is sacredly obligatory upon all."

George Washington
