GOVERNMENT ANTAGONIST AND HUGUENOT

Well, the teachers got a raise. Make no mistake—that was a union strike and nothing else. And you know what, none of the other state workers, or those who work in our higher ed schools were represented, and they, themselves, have not seen a raise in ten years or better. Your children will still be stupid when they get to college—and will be forced to take catcher-upper classes (i.e., remedial), wasting their time and money, before they can continue on. This raise, which may be overturned, won't keep these so-called educators from indoctrinating our kids into the socialist way, nor will it teach them history (which is being turned inside out to please the Northerners who have been our task masters here in the South for over one hundred and fifty years).

Not to mention... Who is going to pay for the school buses the teachers commandeered for their own limo service to the capital? Those buses are meant for the transport of our kids to and from school, not for union teacher strikes! I am so sick of their pomposity.

By the way, I met Deborah Gist once at a dinner event, just before she took her place at the top of Tulsa's Education Department. Did you know, that woman just got a new contract for eight hundred and eighty three thousand dollars?! With benefits, that is roughly a million dollars. And what has she done to be worth that, except cause a strike and kick over our Southern tomb stones... and remove our monuments, "A?"

When I first saw her, two words came to mind. Pole and cat!

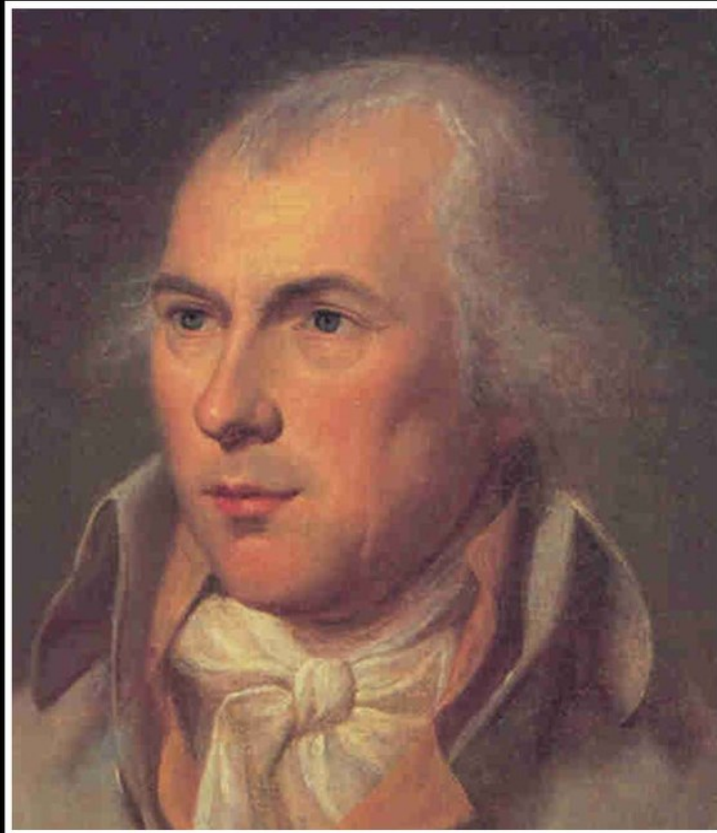

Time to ride. We are getting ready for the round up and our first drive north. The new hands we hired seem to know their business. Can't wait to hit the trail!

See you on the bridge!

P.S. Attorney-client privilege is out the window! Mueller is corrupt to the bone. Our Constitution is now out the window what next?! Hillary for Queen?

P.S.P.S. The mayor of London, a Muslim, has outlawed knives... that includes your favorite butter knife and all your mom's silverware. What next? Outlawing sneakers?
