GOVERNMENT ANTAGONIST AND HUGUENOT

The imbecile in D.C. posturing at Syria and Putin at the same time. A little late for a backbone now, don't you think? Now, think about this for a moment! While Obama and his followers rack up astronomical debt and tear our military down to nothing, Mr. Putin has been re-building his military, pinching pennies and financially able to wage war on a very large scale. The Syrian King has billions in bullion, not to mention all the Muslims in the Middle East who also deal in real currency and are able to finance anything they want from the Chinese and the Ruskies.

If you haven't ever read Sun Tzu or "The Art of War," then you should. One of the biggest no-no's is to go to war without the money to fight it with. So, where do you suppose they would get it? There isn't any more! They are printing worthless currency already. How the hell do you think our allies are going to expect us to pay our bills? These morons in D.C. have watched one too many Errol Flynn films, I think.

One cruise missile hits Syria and our children will reap the whirlwind—world wide. My own son is on his way out of the Army and on his way home. He has seen the battle ground on which we fight a frivolous war now. He tells me—and I have said it before—the entire Middle East is not worth dying for. These people hate each other more than they hate us. If we get out and just let them after each other, they will kill and kill and kill, until there is no one left in the Arab world, if we let them. Then, I say, nuke it and be done with it.

With the weeniest, weakest leaders we have ever had at the helm, we cannot get involved in a shooting war with the Russians, and Putin knows it. He doesn't have to nuke us to beat Obama. All he has to do is make us spend what is left. And, believe me, Obama and Biden have absolutely no reservations about that. At the rate they are partying now, it shouldn't be long. We, the American people, are financially broke. Our leaders live lavish lifestyles while we starve and get poorer, not to mention all the racial tension they incite to divide us.

If we are divided and broke, what do you think? It is time. I said war was coming fast—it now bares down on us like a freight train with no brakes. They are already doing exactly what they cried about Bush. They don't listen to us and do as they please.

Do we not understand that if they start something, our thinly spread armed force can't finish, it could go on for years, like every other conflict that the Democrats have gotten us into. Does anyone out there remember Korea? We are still everywhere the Democrats have involved us in since World War II—and blame the Republicans for the Democrats moronic actions and lack of resolve to win what they start.

They don't mind lying, stealing us blind and usurping power to "Rule." But winning a war, why that would be doing the right thing! Cant' have that!

Time to ride. The boys are half naked and starving, but we have bullets! We don't have food or shoes, but we have resolve, and we have death!

After all, what else is war good for?

See you on the bridge!

P.S. Would you follow Obama out of the trench and into "No Man's Land?" How about Biden or Hillary? Lots of confidence behind them, "A?" You'll never see these cowards on a battles field or where they can get shot at. After all, they are "Rulers.!" Cowards and traitors the whole lot.

P.S.P.S. Lie, lie, lie, lie... after lie.

No Man's Land in World War I
16 million dead, 20 million wounded,
All because someone wanted to "Rule."
