

The Rebel Speaks

GOVERNMENT ANTAGONIST AND HUGUENOT

Where is Robespierre when you really need him? General Mark Milley is guilty of violating military law, section 106A of the military codes of justice and conduct. That makes Milley guilty of espionage, with the penalty being death!! I would love to supply the noose or bullet myself! Damn traitor! My biggest question to the now disgraced General is, why don't you take your pistol and go out back and blow out what is left of your brains? Save us all a lot of trouble and torment to your family, which has to live with your disgrace forever.

So, General, you made it. You are right up there with Benedict Arnold. How does it feel to be a Judas and betray your country and all who died under your command, and their families? Tell me, you scum bastard, did you get your thirty pieces of silver?! If the Emperor Vespasian were here, he would have had Milley strapped to a chair in the colosseum, and held his mouth open and poured his melted down treasure into his deserving throat!! He deserves no less!

Death to traitors and criminal usurpers and everyone else who would sell America out! That is the way it should always be, "A?"

The problem is that our Caesar prefers to fiddle while America burns!!!

Time for this Rebel to ride!

"Come on, boy, stay close; keep up. They're slowing down; their horses are tired! We'll rest our horses for a minute and put our saddles on the fresh ones! When we catch 'em, boy, you stay well behind, you hear?"

"Yes, sir, Big Bob! Now, let's go."

"They aren't far in front of us! We should be able to see them over the next rise! Hurry, boy, I can see them now! They are only a couple of hundred yards ahead and beating their horses to death trying to get away! Hold my horse, boy!"

"Yes, sir!"

BOOM!!

"That's one! The other one is just going to die tired!"

BOOM!!!

"Go collect their horses, boy!"

"Wow! Those were great shots, Big Bob!"

"Not so great, boy!"

"Why not?"

"Because two men died, boy! Now, go get those horses, I'll be along shortly!"

See you on the bridge!

P.S. Smith and Wesson is giving the big heave-ho to Massachusetts and going to Tennessee with a banjo on their knee! Come on down, boys! The more the merrier! Colt, you come down, too!

I would like all the gun makers to move to red states, leave the socialists behind and unarmed, like they want us to be... and see how they like it when they need, but can't have. They will all be crying for the police to protect their prissy little socialist arses!

So, what do you figure - the northeast disarms itself and the British come back? "A?" One if by sea! Two if by land! Three if by both land and sea! I don't think Paul Revere is up to a second ride!

P.S.P.S. Kathy Hochul, the new mayor of New York and competitor to the thrown of heaven! How say you? Does a word like blasphemmer come to mind? If you call yourself a Christian of any sect, you should recognize the face of evil! The face of usurpation and treachery! Turning us upon ourselves, purely for the sake of the riches and power.

But remember, there are consequences for the greed. There are also rewards for those who set themselves up as prophets and, at the same time, shun our freedoms to practice our religions! Their prophetic rewards won't be found in heaven. You get my drift?

Beware!! Beware!!! Beware!!!!!!
